The products offered by ARRI are approved for use in a number of countries. Product-specific information on approval can be found in the respective operating instruction manuals. Import and use in countries other than those mentioned in the respective operating instructions may be subject to legal, regulatory, or official requirements and regulations. Before the products are imported into these countries or used in these countries, compliance with the existing legal, regulatory, and administrative requirements and regulations must be ensured. It is the importer's or the user's responsibility, prior to importation or use, to inform themselves of the applicable legal, regulatory, and administrative requirements and regulations and to ensure compliance with these requirements and regulations, including applying for and obtaining any necessary approvals or registrations. As far as reasonable and legally possible, ARRI will support requests in relation to such applications by providing technical documents or declarations. As an importer or user, you confirm that you are familiar with and comply with the legal, regulatory, and administrative requirements and regulations that apply in the countries to which you ship or use the products. You further confirm that you will arrange for any necessary registrations, enrolments, or authorizations that are required in such countries. You release ARRI from all obligations resulting from any legislative, regulatory, or administrative requirements regarding import or use of the products, except in countries where ARRI has obtained a registration or certification. You agree to indemnify, defend, and hold ARRI harmless from any and all claims, damages, losses, liabilities, costs, and expenses (including reasonable fees of attorneys and other professionals) that may arise out of a demand on ARRI in connection with your obligations mentioned above.
